Sidebar Grille

Do you ever wonder what attorneys do when they are in a "Sidebar"? On TV, they argue with opposing counsel and get a dressing down by the judge. In Chicago, the attorneys are busy making contacts, drinking cocktails and enjoying great food at this hot year-old restaurant in the Loop - Sidebar Grille.

Start out your happy hour with one of their fabulous signature martinis including the Flirtini (vodka, Chambord, pineapple juice topped with champagne), Blueberry Pie (vanilla and blueberry liquor mix garnished with a graham cracker crust) or Watermelon (grape and watermelon liquor mix garnished with a watermelon sugar rim). We do not like overly sweet drinks and these were perfect (even better on Wednesday evenings when they are five bucks a piece).

Everyone is serving chicken quesadillas but no one is doing it quite like Sidebar Grille. Their version is chock full of ingredients and are almost an inch thick served with fresh guacamole and homemade salsa. We also loved the new buffalo chicken rolls which are wrapped in a wonton and lightly fried. Also amazing are the "sliders" - conjuring up images of those late night grease cravings - but this version is nothing like their namesake. It is a trio of freshly made mini-burgers with one of each - ground beef, steak and Thai chicken. Note to self: Appetizers are half price on Friday evenings.

The fish tacos made with tilapia and a house-made spicy ranch sauce were an instant hit. We also liked the salmon club which is made with fresh chunks of salmon and layered with smoked bacon, avocado, lettuce and tomato. The burgers are hot and fresh - and if you are into veggie burgers, this one is a must try. Ask your server what is included in it... we were surprised at all the healthy ingredients! Sidebar Grille has five salads on the menu. We liked the beef tenderloin and the southwest salads (and salads are on special for $7 each on Tuesday evenings along with half priced bottles of wine).

End your meal with 10,000 calories! Really. No joking - it would bad except it is so good. A half pound chocolate chip cookie served in a cast iron pan straight from the oven - bubbling hot - and covered with at least five scoops of vanilla ice cream, drizzled with Swiss chocolate and French caramel sauce and topped with whipped cream. It was over-the-top delicious and we have burns in our mouths to prove it!

During the month of August 2007, mention AS YOU WISH with your reservation or bring this flyer and each guest will receive a complimentary signature martini with purchase of an entree.

Future Happenings: Beginning Fall 2007, Sidebar Grille will be open on Saturdays from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. so you can come in for a bite and stay to watch your game on one of eleven flatscreen TVs. Summer 2008, Sidebar Grille will have an outdoor patio on LaSalle.
